

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A door unlock control system detects collision to a vehicle and executes door unlocking. The type of collision to the vehicle is determined. The order of execution of door unlocking is determined based on the type of collision. Door unlocking is then executed based on the order of execution.